RESTAURANT

Our selection of teas

For one century, Betjeman and Barton entertains its passion for tea and reconciles French taste and British refinement.

The Windows restaurant decided to cooperate with Betjeman and Barton, because we share the same vision and passion.

For Betjeman and Barton, «the finest tea in the world can be the worst if the person who drinks it, doesn't like it».

Véronique Gallais and we made the following selection of teas hoping that you will be able to choose the best one: Yours!

Our black teas

Tukvar tea

26.-

A huge garden located at 2000m height, the first in Darjeeling history, famous for its personality. This "grand cru" is very aromatic and perfect to drink during the day. To be enjoyed plain or with a cloud of milk.

Brewing time : 4 to 5 minutes.

Earl Grey Finest tea

18.-

You know how Earl Edward Grey, the British Foreign Secretary, created this blend, drawing his inspiration from ancient Chinese traditions. Known over the world, Earl Grey tea deserves yet to be prepared with the utmost care. It needs an excellent China tea as a base and bergamot from Calabria. A deliciously English great classic. Brewing time : 3 to 5 minutes.

Lapsang Souchong tea

12.-

The Legend tells that this tea was born from the ashes of a tea factory, during a fire. In spite of his disappointment, the poor tenant decided to taste this "smoked" tea and fell in love with it. Smoked with spruce wood, this beverage is robust and aromatic. It is perfect to drink with a meal, a brunch or even with a piece of cheese. A Chinese black tea to be enjoyed, whether plain or with a cloud of milk. Brewing time : 3 to 5 minutes.

Sikkim Femi tea

16.-

It grows at the foothills of Himalaya in northern India, a famous garden for Darjeeling tea which makes it a both light and fragrant beverage. Aficionados will prefer it plain. This extremely refined tea is considered as champagne amongst the Darjeeling teas. Brewing time : 3 to 5 minutes.

Eden Rose tea

12.-

A blend of Chinese, Ceylon teas and rose petals with a touch of bergamot, vanilla and lavender blossoms. The creator, General Manager of Betjeman and Barton, says that this beverage reminds him of the blossoming Normandy's gardens. Brewing time : 3 to 5 minutes.

"4 O'Clock break" tea

12.-

This half fermented tea is an Oolong tea from China. You will also find in it some chocolate bits, caramel toffee, cereals, sunflowers, and caramel bits. The perfect tea for an afternoon break. Brewing time: 2 to 3 minutes.

Greenwood tea

13.-

Assam Indian tea is a really robust beverage that aficionados of tea with milk will appreciate. Brewing time : 3 to 5 minutes.

Foy Hills tea

12.-

Native to a private tea garden in South Ceylon, it offers a nice scent of Malt and caramel with slight woody notes. To be enjoyed plain or with a cloud of milk. Brewing time : 3 to 5 minutes.

Lover's tea

12.-

Black and green Chinese tea blended with passion fruit, mango, pineapple and orange, scattered with jasmine blossoms. A lovers escapade to a country where even the winter is warm! Brewing time: 3 to 5 minutes.

Pu-er Chrysanthème tea

12.-

The Mums flower, a tradition in china, is added to the Pu-er tea to provide a basis for deep notes of cedar, liquorice and some delicate flowers aroma. Ideal for a first experience of Pu-er. Brewing time: 4 minutes.

Our green and white teas

All green and white teas have to be enjoyed without any milk and sugar in order to really appreciate their delicate fragrance. Water quality and temperature are crucial to display the entire subtlety of those beverages.

Green Jade tea

24. -

A green Oolong tea that produces a colourful golden cup. This tea dries a first time by the sun for ten minutes and then is hidden from light and dried a second time for 8 hours. Leaves are then hand rolled. It has a delicate taste that reminds of the peach blossom. Can be brewed several times.

Tamaryokucha tea

26. -

Worth to taste Japanese green tea whose leaves are twisted instead of being folded like Sencha teas which gives more colour to the tea. Its leaves are of a dark green colour which is a sign of finest quality. Harvested in Shizuoka in spring, this tea is deeply aromatic and smoother than the other Japanese green teas. Brewing time : 2.5 to 4 minutes.

Abdellah's mint green tea

18. -

A special tea, to greet visitors with a touch of North African style. The Chinese Gunpower flavoured with the Nanah mint from Morocco, to be enjoyed sweetened. Brewing time : 4 to 5 minutes.

Jasmin tea Chung Kao

14. -

An "Grand cru" from China with delicate fresh jasmine flowers. A classic among flavoured teas. Flowery and oriental scents make it ideal to finish a meal with or even in the evening for it is poor in caffeine. To be enjoyed only plain. Brewing time : 3 to 5 minutes.

Pivoine d'Antan tea

Yunan green tea blended with citrus fruits (lemon, grapefruit) and spices (cinnamon, cardamom, pepper).

RESTAURANT

Genmaïcha tea

14. -

It's a Japanese green tea blended with toasted rice. Commonly called "popcorn tea" because some grain of rice may have burst during roasting. Its sweet and pleasant taste combines the fresh grass of the green tea with the nutty flavor from puffed rice. Brewing time : 3 to 6 minutes.

Gunpowder tea

12. -

Its leaves are rolled and spread out smoothly when brewing. Very refreshing, recommended in order to prepare delicate mint tea, as you would be drinking in North Africa. Brewing time : 3 minutes.

White Pearl tea (white tea)

18. -

Chinese white tea, hand rolled like delicate « pearl », only harvested on certain days. Dried outdoors, it offers smooth and fresh scents. Light colour and poor in Caffeine. Brewing time : 6 to 8 minutes.

Our South African "Red tea"

The Rooibos is not a tea, it's a wild shrub from the Acacias' family that grows only in the Cedarberg's Mountains located in the north of Cape Town, South-Africa. Rooibos growing attempts have been carried out in other countries offering the same climate than South-Africa but with no success. Poor in tannins and without caffeine, it gives pleasant aromas. Drink it plain or lightly sweetened.

Rooibos Red Garden

Unlike the Red Rooibos which is fermented, this one is simply dried. Hence it is of a lighter shade of green and not as sweet. This very flavoured blend has some sun flowers aromas along with, rose, strawberry, vanilla and grapefruit tinges.

Rooibos Colada

Best a cloud of cream or lightly sugared, this Rooibos is gently flavoured with a unique mix of coconut and pineapple that brings him vivacity. Brewing time : 4-5 minutes .
