Bodymetrics made-to-measure suits

If you struggle to find the perfect suit, look no further. In collaboration with three of the UK's leading designers and tailors - Vivienne Westwood, Nick Tentis and Holland Esquire - Bodymetrics scans rays of light over 200,000 data points of the body, then produces a digital virtual replica of its dimensions. This scan is then used to produce a pattern that replicates the exact lines of your body.

From there, a consultant fits the perfect suit, offering choices of style, fabrics and fit - including quirky personal details such as photo buttons. And once you've had your initial scan, you can order a new suit over the phone, knowing that the fit will be absolutely perfect. Suits take from 4-6 weeks from initial scan to final fitting. The new MEC Jungle watch collection is an utterly unique, limited edition series by Master French Jeweller Boucheron, with mechanisms by superior Swiss watchmaker Girard-Perregaux. It is the fruit of 149 years of shared passion for the exceptional by both Houses.

Besides the incomparable calibres, Boucheron has introduced incredible new finishes for its 2007 MEC jewellery series. The watches are adorned with multi-coloured, bejewelled animals. Snakes, turtles and chameleons are attached to the cases, which not only enclose a Girard-Perregaux 4000 calibre, but also rotors (visible through the transparent case-backs) bearing the same animal motif, but in hand-carved eyelet decoration; a pure demonstration of the excellence, audacity and lavishness of the Boucheron/Girard-Perregaux partnership.

The sense of volume, the love for linearity and symmetry, and certain details recalling art and architecture are classic characteristics of the Bulgari creations.

The Bulgari High Jewellery Collection is a set of unique pieces of jewellery, which travel the world. They may be considered as the quintessence of the Bulgari design, taste for beauty, unique sense of volume and preciousness of materials.

The exceptional piece shown is from the High Jewellery Collection and is a yellow gold necklace with fancy coloured sapphires, emeralds and diamonds.

Cartier, described by King Edward VII as "Jeweller to Kings, King of jewellers" and a name synonymous with splendour, luxury and fine artistry was established by Louis Francois Cartier, in Paris, in 1847. His son and later on his three grandsons expanded the business internationally, opening temples in New York and London. Cartier's creations are marked by the exotic influences of the civilisations that the three brothers discover on their travels.

Cartier became universally recognised, welcoming orders from royalty across the globe, from the Maharajahs of India to the Kings and Queens of Europe.

Today, Cartier creations, whether pieces of high jewellery or contemporary jewellery collections, timepieces or objet d'arts, translate the values of a Maison built on a unique know-how, style, expertise and elegance.

An iconic jewel Sentimental, universal, eternal...

A symbol of a meeting, an anniversary, a family or lovers' link...

Quality and creativity are the hallmarks of Chopard, the luxury watch and jewellery firm founded by Louis-Ulysse Chopard in 1860. Today, Chopard continues to produce high-precision watches and precious jewellery. Chopard is most famous for its "Happy Diamonds". Created 20 years ago, the very first Happy Sport watch was part of the spectacular success enjoyed by the Happy Diamonds.

Chopard now presents the latest generation of "Happy Sport"! Newly revamped and resolutely contemporary, the Happy Sport Mark II features a bevelled crown enhanced by a brilliant-cut sapphire. The cabochons placed on either side of the case give a decidedly modern touch to this new model: flat and without sapphires, they convey discreet elegance. The extra-large applied Roman numerals ensure perfect visibility and give distinctive character to the dial with its seven spinning diamonds. This diamond version on a white crocodile strap is the perfect accessory for summer outfits. .

Some people consider the Skulls macabre, but they also show the body's imperviousness to the ravages of time. The snake that inhabits the Skulls has long been a symbol of life and potency...well I never. They are not for the faint-hearted, but we feel they are also great bits of jewellery, beautifully made, that brings out the inner rock 'n' roller in all of us.

These timeless and exquisite creations come in a range of stones; diamonds, rubies, sapphires and tsavorites amongst others.

Prices of the Skulls start at £750.

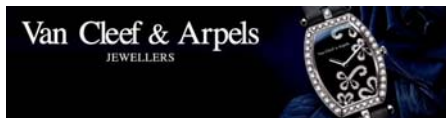

We hope you enjoy wearing them as much as we enjoyed making them...

A Tiffany diamond is a promise of superlative brilliance. On the hand of a woman who is loved, there is nothing more elegant for all time.

Over a lifetime, a woman will look at her diamond ring more than one million times. And with each glance comes a burst of white light more brilliant than all the rest. Born of a love story between Alfred Van Cleef and Estelle Arpels at the dawn of the 20th Century, the House of Van Cleef & Arpels is renowned worldwide for unparalleled craftsmanship and timeless innovative design.

A Van Cleef & Arpels watch is, above all, a watch created by a great jeweller. Indeed, it is the House's same legendary commitment to excellence in jewellery making that is applied to the creation of watches that are exceptional in every way: in their materials, in their techniques and finishing details, and in their movements and special complications.

Working on the contrasts of opposites with delicate laced motifs on a rich black lacquered watch dial, the Lady Arpels Dentelle Collection has the unending appeal and glamour to be found in the refined world of Haute Couture and as such it is emblematic of the elegant woman of the 21st century.
